By Associated Press.

Des Moines, Ia., July 9.—The continued rains have forced nearly all Iowa streams from their banks, and the destruction of crops, live stock and other property is assuming immense proportions. It is impossible to estimate the damage from the indefinite reports received. The damage is especially extensive in the central, northern, western and southwestern part of the state. The valleys of the Sioux and Maple rivers are flooded, and Woodbury and Monona counties are under water. The Iowa river at Marshalltown is the highest since 1881. Many country bridges have been destroyed. Cattle and hogs have been drowned in large numbers in the Iowa valley. At Cedar Rapids, 5.4 inches of rain has fallen since July 1. The Cedar Rapids river is out of its banks and many families have been forced from their homes. Numerous bridges have been swept away in Linn county. The Skunk river and Squaw creek are out of their banks, and near the confluence near Story county thousands of acres are flooded and crops practically destroyed.

The continuous rains are paralyzing business in Fort Dodge, and the railroads are almost out of business. The west end of the city is inundated and families are moving out. The Des Moines river is up six feet at that point. Because of the saturation of all the insulation on the wires, electric power has been shut off and the town is in darkness. Near Oxford, in Johnson county, in a windstorm last night, Jacob Burkhardt was crushed to death by the falling of a barn on the farm of Wesley Prush. Half a dozen barns were destroyed in the same neighborhood. Near North Liberty, the residence of Jacob Seidheiser was wrecked and the family had a narrow escape. All over Johnson county, the storm destroyed windmills and barns. The damage in the county is estimated at $50,000.

A deluge visited the town of Extra last night and trains on the Audubon branch of the Rock Island could not pass that point today. The town is under four feet of water.

The Raccoon river at Adel, after being stationary all day, began to rise rapidly tonight. It shut off the electric light plant and is doing great damage.

KANSAS RAILROADS IN JURED BY RAINS

By Associated Press.

Topeka, Kan., July 9.—The Union Pacific road has suspended all traffic on the Blue Valley line, north of Manhattan, and on the branch north of Concordia, on account of the high water. The Santa Fe is having much trouble on the northern end of the Strong City branch, which runs from Strong City to Superior, Neb. The Republican river is on a rampage there, and is higher than it has ever been known to be. A great deal of track on the branch is under water, but has not yet been washed out. The Fremont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley line, which connects with the Santa Fe at Superior, is also in bad shape and cannot get its trains through.

Reports received by the Santa Fe here are not very encouraging. A general rain has prevailed today over the entire middle and western divisions of the road, and trouble is being experienced in getting trains through on time.

The Kansas river at this place is very high again on account of the rise in the Republican and the Blue rivers.

By Associated Press.

Abilene, Kan., July 9.—Steady rains have continued most of the night and this forenoon in this section. Wheat is shock and oats are injured and the streams are rising. Farmers have been unable to enter the fields since Sunday and cannot for several days yet.

NEBRASKA'S DAMAGE IS A MILL ON DOLLARS

By Associated Press.

Omaha, Neb., July 9.—The rain that began falling last evening continued up to noon today. Reports received today show the conditions in the flooded districts to be worse than at first reported. Morning trains were from one to five hours late into the city, and some of them had been abandoned entirely.

At Superior, Neb., the Burlington road had 1,000 feet of track washed bodily into the Republican river, and the Santa Fe was blocked last night by a foot of water running over the roadbed for a mile west of town.

At Blair, a quarter of a mile of the Northwestern's track was washed out and the town of Herman is still in the midst of a lake of water. At Kenilard 400 feet of track of the same road was carried away, and the flood approaches to the Missouri river bridge east of town began to slide away.

A conservative estimate places the losses from floods in Nebraska at over a million dollars and some estimates exceed twice that amount.

STORM IN ILLINOIS

By Associated Press.

Peoria, Ill., July 9.—A terrific rain and electric storm swept over Peoria and the adjoining country last night. Rain fell in [illegible] of an average hour and the [illegible] all the lines entering the city are more or less affected. A Lake Erie and Western freight went through a bridge at Harmdale, six miles from here. The engine and several freight cars are piled in the bottom of Farm creek. The engineer was fatally injured and the fireman lies beneath the engine. It will be several days before traffic is restored. The Toledo, Peoria and Western passenger train due here last evening struck a landslide twelve miles east of here and the engine was derailed. The damage to the timothy and oats crop is very heavy. Several inches of rainfall was recorded.

By Associated Press.

Atchison, Kan., July 9.—Unprecedented rains in northern Kansas which have fallen during the past few days have paralyzed traffic on some sections of the Missouri Pacific's central branch and have, it is believed, damaged wheat irreparably. A heavy rain fell last night and this morning generally over northern Kansas, from one to one and a half inches of water falling. Two Missouri Pacific bridges were washed out west of Clyde and the branch from Yuma, Kan., to Prosser, Neb., a distance of 104 miles, is completely tied up by washouts. Not a train has run over the entire branch for nearly a week. The Republican river is out of its banks in a great many places today and farmers in the bottom lands are submerged.

MISSOURI RIVER RISING

By Associated Press.

Kansas City, July 9.—The rainfall at Kansas City thus far in July is four inches in excess of the normal fall for the whole month. Rain fell generally today in Kansas, Nebraska and western Missouri. Many passenger trains arrive here late because of inundated tracks.

The Missouri river is rising steadily tonight and will reach the danger point before morning. Rain is falling tonight. When clear weather comes the river will fall as rapidly as it rose. The only damage so far done is by the flooding of cellars in the bottoms. The water front is well protected by piles and rip-rap so that the river cannot undermine the bank. There is a possibility, however, that the Missouri will cut across the peninsula opposite the mouth of the Kaw, in which case the railroads would suffer large loss and if the new channel should become permanent a great body of land, including the present river bed, would be added to Kansas City.

Andrew Erickson, a farmer, was drowned in the Kaw river at St. Marys, Kas., today.

CLOUDBURST SWEPT FREMONT COUNTY FARMS

By Associated Press.

Pueblo, Colo., July 9.—Those ugly black rolls of clouds which in the Rockies are the equivalent of the Kansas twister, were late this afternoon seen to overhang a large extent of the mountain country to the west and as expected accounts are coming in tonight of a roaring cloudburst which swept the Wet mountain valley, the Grape creek and other portions of Fremont county. It is stated that the apple orchards are badly injured and that loss of fruit is heavy. Water was four feet deep in a portion of Florence.

The Santa Fe railroad lost two iron bridges and 1,600 feet of track. It is reported that Chandler creek ran into the Chandler coal mine and filled it, but this may be exaggerated. Potato fields in the Wet mountain valley were washed out. It is feared that Grays creek, the most terrible stream in the country in time of freshet, has damaged the fine irrigation system there, which supplied orchards and nurseries around South Canon. The Arkansas river rose six or eight feet here, but has done no damage as yet.

DEATH FROM LOCKJAW IN CRIPPLE CREEK

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, July 9.—Roy Shields, aged 12 years, died at 7 o'clock tonight at the home of his parents, 130 Bison avenue, of lockjaw. On July 4 the boy accidentally shot himself in the palm of the hand with a 22-caliber blank cartridge pistol. Dr. Dunwoody was called and the boy was doing nicely until this morning, when lockjaw developed. Druggist W. L. Shockey made a strong effort to get a bottle of tetanus anti-toxic serum for the physician and it arrived at 6 o'clock tonight from Denver, at about the same time that the death of the boy occurred. This is the first case of lockjaw on record in Cripple Creek.

THE MARIETTA IN HAYTI

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 9.—The navy department has received a cablegram from Commander J. N. Rodgers of the gunboat Marietta, announcing that vessel's departure today from Cape Haytien for Pointe de Paix, where American interests are said to be somewhat threatened as a result of the internal disturbances in Hayti. The situation in the island is not regarded here as serious at the present time.

CYCLE RACE.

By Associated Press.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 9.—Tommy Hall, the English cycle champion, made his first effort for the middle distance championship at the Criterium, defeating W. J. King, of Salt Lake, by seven laps in a 20-mile race. He covered the distance in 32:01 4-5.

By Associated Press.

Minneapolis, July 9.—High water mark in the attendance at the National Educational association convention has probably been reached, and it is understood that it breaks the record for numbers present at any meeting of the association yet held. A conservative estimate would place the number of visitors in the city today as considerably over 20,000.

The department meetings were all well attended today, and there were 15 of them. Tomorrow, there will be 13 meetings, and on Friday, when the convention closes, there will be 12.

The feature of the day was the great meeting of the general association tonight in the Exposition building. The auditorium did not call far short of 10,000 people. Dr. Michael Ernest Sadler, director of inquiries and reports of the educational office, London, was the first speaker and, taking as his theme "Hope," for nearly an hour held his audience with a thoughtful and scholarly address.

The principal address of the session was delivered by Archbishop John Ireland of St. Paul. The well-known churchman and orator was given a warm reception by the great assemblage.

"Devotion to the Truth: The Chief Virtue of the Preacher," was the subject of the archbishop's address.

Particular interest was shown in the archbishop's reference to the Spanish-American war and to the conditions in the Philippines. He said, in part:

"I am one of those who see in the sequence of the late Spanish-American war the guiding hand of a mighty providence, and the outburst of forces long gathering in the bosom of the nation sure at one moment or another to break out in a resistless self-assertion. Nevertheless, I shall never deny that among the immediate causes of the war there are to be numbered the exaggerated statements, the lies, too, and the calumnies, the ceaseless appeals to wild and reckless passion which disfigured and disgraced the utterances of certain newspaper writers and of certain other manipulators of public opinion. I know for a fact that the instructions going from the office of a newspaper to its European correspondent read this wise:

"Wire all that makes for war, nothing that tends to prevent or delay it.

"Grave, indeed, were the causes demanding from America a solemn act; strong were the provocations given to ruffle the national temper, yet we can never approve the methods in which falsehood and passion play a large part; and we cannot but assert that it were immensely better for the country if results attained through war should have been attained without the carnage and havoc of war.

"How unguarded and reckless and how reprehensible are many statements published at the present time as from the Philippines, purporting to tell of dreadful deeds of cruelty and injustice, for which on close examination no foundation in fact is found. I shall name in this connection one instance, which I am particularly pleased to censure. A little while ago, certain Catholic newspapers raised the cry that proselytism was the order of the day in the schools of Manila; and chief officials, it was said, and the teachers in the normal being regularly drained ministers, who divided their time between the multiplication table and tract reading. The matter was investigated, and it was discovered that the chief officials and the teachers in the normal were not ministers, and that their own good sense as well as the strict rules of the government confined them strictly to secular matters. The newspapers which had admitted into their columns such statements have since, indeed, repudiated them; but meanwhile much needless excitement was raised and much harm done.

"If I were to choose, where, outside the class room for the general welfare of humanity, I should have devotion to truth prevail, I should name the newspaper. The newspaper is today par-eminently the mentor of the people. It is read by all; it is believed by nearly all; its influence is paramount; its responsibility is tremendous; its province is to narrate facts—to give the truth, nothing but the truth, and all the truth—to allow both parties to a controversy to be heard—never to palliate or distort. Never to omit, when that which is omitted may be of relevancy in the formation of public opinion; never to publish the doubtful ascertainment of mere gossip as well as ascertained news. Never, above all else, to put before readers error and falsehood. Facts given the editor is at liberty to argue from them by his own tenets, and even then let there be radiant through limpid lines the fair love of truth, rather than the wish to extol party or sect. Journalism that is honest and honorable is one of the nation's most precious inheritances; that which places notoriety and pelf above truth and virtue, and accepts as its tactics of war the stunning sensation rather than the calm statement of facts, is one of the nation's direst calamities. Numerous in America is the journalism which is honest and honorable; here and there is found that which worships, above all else, notoriety and pelf. There is here a duty of conscience and of patriotism for American. May they ever be mindful of that duty."

TEACHERS AT DEPARTMENT MEETINGS

By Associated Press.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 9.—This was a day of department meetings for the visiting teachers of the National Educational association. The morning was given over to meetings of the following departments:

Kindergarten, secondary education, normal school, manual training, music and Indian education.

In the afternoon the following held meetings:

Higher education, art, business education, child study, physical education, science instruction, and special education.

The feature of the normal school meeting was the address of Dr. David Felmley, president of the Illinois State Normal School University, on the need of more practical work in normal schools and the concentration and co-operation of the work on the teaching of the actual instead of theoretical child as the ultimate purpose of normal education.

A striking paper was read in the kindergarten section by Mary C. May, director of the kindergarten department, State Normal school, Salt Lake, on defects in the teaching of English. The greatest deficiencies in the department system she defined as poor power of expression, especially orally, poor spelling, punctuation, and composition, inability to grasp vital facts and lack of appreciation of values.

The greatest needs, she enumerated, were training in clear, definite, brief powers of statement, greater simplicity of expression for teacher and pupil, greater power of illustration and marked extension of oral, combined with written, work.

James Remsen, bishop of Cincinnati, aroused the enthusiasm of the secondary education department by his demand for a closer system of supervision of schools by the state. He pointed out that the extraordinary activity in educational matters had given rise to confusion and lack of co-ordination. Present state bureaus, he declared, do not supervise thoroughly and well because too small and underpaid.

In the department of business education, the president, I. O. Grimy, of the regents' office, Albany, N. Y., said that a committee of nine had spent the year formulating a general course of procedure and detailed course of study for business education in high schools. The demand for four-year courses was so strong and showed so decided a trend toward practical business instruction that the committee's work was most important.

A. E. Winship, editor of the Journal of Education, Boston, read a strong and suggestive paper on the disciplinary value of commercial studies as opposed to the old idea that higher mathematics was best for disciplining the mind. In illustration he said:

"J. J. Hill is the greatest railroad man on earth because he first carried a bushel of wheat 1,100 miles for a cent and a half, and a ton of coal 1,100 miles for 25 cents. It was the plain multiplication table that made Jim Hill the best disciplined man west of Chicago."

W. H. Norton, professor of geology at Cornell college, Iowa, in his address as president of the science instruction section, contended that there should be enough science from primary school to university so that there should be no year in which scientific aptitudes may not find means of development.

"It is physics science alone," he said, in referring to Christian Science, "which can render immune to such vagaries."

In the department of higher education, George N. Carlen, director of the Lewis institute, Chicago, made the second annual report for the commission on accredited schools, whose object it is to establish closer relations between the colleges and secondary schools of the north central states. The commission consists of 40 members, equally divided between colleges and secondary schools and its purpose is to effect reasonable uniformity in requirements for admission to colleges. If its plan is put in operation any graduate of any school on the accredited list may enter any college in the association without examination.

Its work is said to be a long step toward a desirable national uniformity among leading schools and colleges.

The movement for the election of President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard as president of the association has attained such headway that he is likely to be named without opposition. The question of place of meeting will not be so easily settled. Boston seems to be the favorite, but it has been against the custom to give the presidency and the convention to the same city. President Beardshear is reported as much better, but his physicians will not permit him to act very take up the work of the convention.

Of the department meetings held this afternoon the one of most general interest was that of special education held at the Hennepin Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone and president of the department, explained the object of the department and the wonderful work that it and the educators of defectives throughout the country are doing.

Among the other speakers was W. T. Harris, United States commissioner of education, who [illegible] on "[illegible] and [illegible]

Seattle, Wash., July 9.—The pursuit of the outlaw, Tracy, appears to be temporarily suspended. Sheriff Cudihee has called in the guards from the southern suburbs, leaving only a sufficient number for careful patrol. It is believed that Cudihee expects if the convict reappears at all that it will be in another part of the county. The posse that started from Renton with the bloodhounds at 5 o'clock this morning returned at 2 o'clock in the afternoon after a fruitless search.

Since 8 o'clock this morning, the armed posse has been scouring the country between Renton and Black River Junction. The territory lying in the square bounded by roads leading from Renton to Black River Junction, then to Orillia, thence to Spring Brook cross-roads and back have been searched. It is believed that Tracy is hiding in the dense woods of that district. Guards have been stationed at every road in the section. It is believed that he will soon make his appearance at some house and demand food, as he is known to be without supplies. The rumor that Merrill has joined his murderous comrade cannot be substantiated.

As matters stand at this moment, no one knows the exact whereabouts of the desperado. The chase is suspended for the time being. The moment Tracy shows his head, men now waiting will be in pursuit.

The Salem penitentiary guard who is with the party at Renton is certain that Merrill and Tracy are once more together, although he will not state the reason for his belief. The marshal of Renton and a deputy sheriff have captured three suspicious looking individuals at Renton. The men have the appearance of hoboes, and it is thought that they may be three of the four men who met Tracy at Black River bridge the night before yet and walked through Renton in the city's company. At the [illegible] they gave their names as [illegible] Jel[illegible] [illegible]om Masden and Phil [illegible]. The first two claim to be loggers, and the third says he is an iron bridge builder. Their statements as to their recent actions are somewhat conflicting. They say they came to Seattle a couple of days before the Fourth of July and got on a spree. A diligent search is being made for the fourth alleged accomplice, who is thought to be hanging around Renton or may have joined the convict. Rumors are rife that the fourth man is none other than Merrill, but this is generally discredited.

Seattle, Washington, July 9.—A special from Renton at 11 a. m. [illegible] Oregon penitentiary guards have informed the posses who are chasing Tracy that Merrill [illegible]. Following is the news as it has reached the Associated Press this morning:

6 a. m.—Carson and [illegible] left at 4 o'clock with the hounds, [illegible] ing to Burrows heath[illegible], [illegible] expected the dogs would again take up the scent.

A report has just come in that the dogs failed to take the scent this [illegible] and that the party is now working up the pipe line.

The search continued along the pipe line until the county road was [illegible] where it was learned that a suspicious character had passed along towards Seattle between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning. The posse turned toward Seattle, but after proceeding seven miles, turned back towards Renton. Walter Lyons and Guard Carson headed the posse.

Renton, 8:35 a. m.—A man, who became in from Black River Junction, said that Tracy was seen at 8 o'clock this morning in a hop ranch near there. They have dispatched another posse from the reserve force in Renton. There are two other men with Tracy.

Renton, 9:35 a. m.—Two men have just come in who report that Tracy has just been driven from the house and ran across a clearing within sight of the posse, or, in other words, a quarter of a mile from the station at Renton. Tracy was going in the direction of the south end of Lake Washington. He was carrying a gun. The posse that went to the house is in full chase after him.

Guard Carson and three others have just left here to intercept him.

Officers from the sheriff's office have put under arrest Thomas [illegible], Philip Ritchie and Andy [illegible] on the charge of aiding one [illegible] Tracy in his escape. The authorities claim to have strong evidence against the men, who were [illegible] Monday night, as told by [illegible].

Orillia, Wash., July 9.—Tracy joined Tracy last night in the vicinity of Renton and is traveling with him this morning. They were both [illegible] at the Hart house on the Squire farm as late as 8 o'clock this morning. Merrill has been positively identified by a man from the Salem penitentiary. It has been learned that Anderson's story regarding the four men who met Tracy on Monday is absolutely correct. Merrill is one of these four men.

[illegible] TEAMSTERS' STRIKE NEW PROPOSITION [illegible]

By Associated Press.

Chicago, July 9.—The strike of the freight handlers is virtually settled. Meetings of the strikers will be held tomorrow to ratify the action taken tonight by President Curran of the order, but inasmuch as he stated tonight, after a conference with general managers of the roads that he had agreed to their terms because of the majority of his men were "going back" on him, there is little doubt the terms will be accepted by the mass meeting of the strikers tomorrow.

By the terms of settlement the strikers accept the schedule of wages offered them by the railroads on July 1. This schedule was emphatically refused by the strikers at the time it was made. It offered an average increase of 20 per cent for all classes of labor connected with the Freight Handlers' union. The demands of the men would have made an average increase of about 50 per cent. The railroads at the time of offering the increase July 3, said that under no circumstances would they recognize the union of the freight handlers to the extent of allowing the officers of the organization to make terms of the men with the officers of the roads by which they were employed. This was one of the chief reasons for the strike, the men insisting that the union should be fully recognized. The railroads have won a complete victory on this point. The attitude of the roads towards the Freight Handlers' union is the same as that maintained toward all other organizations of railroad men. The freight handlers demand [illegible] that no other organization of railroad employes in Chicago had asked and the managers answered that under no circumstances would they agree to this.

President Curran of the Freight Handlers union said after the meeting with the general managers tonight that he practically had been compelled by his own men to accept the terms of the roads.

"Two-thirds of them would have gone to work in the morning anyhow," he said "and it was simply a question of doing the best possible under the circumstances. The railroads will take back all strikers who will apply for their old positions by noon tomorrow."

The action of the teamsters was a prominent factor in settling the strike. The strong issue with the freight handlers intimated very plainly that no assistance could be expected from them inasmuch as the freight handlers struck against the advice of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

The agreement reached by President Curran with the managers tonight is to be ratified by the men tomorrow. There is only a very small probability that this will not be done.

As the Vatican's reply is in French, it is being translated by Bishop O'Gorman of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Major Porter of the office of the judge advocate of the army. It will be telegraphed to Washington tonight. Since Judge Taft has been in Rome he has sent about 20,000 words by cable to the Washington authorities.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND THE NEW PROGRESS.

IN every community there are drones, obstructionists and backcapers. In every community there are leeches, sycophants and time-servers. In every community selfishness tries to block the paths of progress, to obstruct the highways of enterprise and to crush the spirit of expansion.

Some years ago, in Dallas, Tex., the principal hotel was a two-story affair, owned and operated by a "leading and public-spirited citizen." A movement was started in that city similar to the one started here to increase the size of the place and to bring in new industries and new enterprises. The "leading and public-spirited citizen" who owned the hotel opposed the movement for many public reasons, but for the real and sole private reason that a larger city meant a new and larger hotel, and he was making too much out of the small hotel to risk any such injury to his business. But he was unceremoniously overrun, as selfish people and selfishness are always overrun in every progressive community.

The new Business Men's club of this city can accomplish wonderful results for Colorado Springs by energetic action, originality of imitation, and liberality and hospitality in receiving and caring for those who come within our gates for either pleasure, recreation or business.

The commercial clubs of Chicago, Cincinnati and Kansas City have done more to advance the interests of those cities than all other public and private organizations combined, and simply because they have run over every obstructionist and make their organizations typical of the progressive spirit of the remarkable cities in which they exist.

Our local club can well and profitably emulate their example.

In order to cripple the usefulness of the new club in this city, some insignificant time servers and selfish sycophants have given currency to falsehoods, which in themselves are not worthy of notice, except that they have been accepted seriously by some really respectable and progressive people.

One of these lies is that the new organization was formed to antagonize the chamber of commerce. Another is that the Gazette has given the new organization such cordial support because this paper is antagonistic to the chamber of commerce. There are other smaller and cheaper falsehoods floating around, but these two are the only ones worthy of any attention, and some readers may very justly think it is a waste of space to pay any attention even to them.

The character of the men composing the board of trustees of the new club is a sufficient refutation of the first falsehood, and the fact that the editor of this paper was the acting chairman of the committee that selected the names of the splendid and enterprising citizens who compose the board of trustees should be a sufficient refutation of the second falsehood.

The chamber of commerce of this city has never had a warmer advocate nor a more staunch supporter than the Colorado Springs Gazette during the past two years. Since currency was given to these contemptible lies a few days ago, we have taken pains to examine the files of the two local papers during the past two years, and we find that the Gazette during that period has contained four times more chamber of commerce matter than has the other local paper, and that paper has not failed in its duty to the chamber of commerce by any means.

It will be remembered that last January the Telegraph was purchased by a local syndicate, the most of whom were then and are now directors in the chamber of commerce; but notwithstanding that fact, the Gazette since January 1 of this year has contained more chamber of commerce matter by three times than has the Evening Telegraph.

Editorially, locally, in the advertising columns and in every other way this paper has given freely of its space to every movement, transaction or plan that the chamber of commerce has started or discussed for the benefit of the community.

WHEN SECRETARY M'CLURG WAS ARRANGING FOR HIS RECENT LECTURE FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, THE GAZETTE FREELY DONATED TO HIM AND TO THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE A FULL HALF-PAGE DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENT OF SUCH LECTURE FOR THE PERIOD OF FIVE DAYS, AND THE GAZETTE PAID EVERY EXPENSE CONNECTED THEREWITH. WE DID NOT NOTICE ANY SUCH DONATION ON THE PART OF THE LOCAL PAPER THAT IS LARGELY OWNED BY SOME OF THE DIRECTORS OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Three times during the past six months, the Gazette has been personally thanked by the president and secretary of the chamber of commerce for voluntary work done for that body.

We mention these things not to claim any especial credit, for we simply did our duty by the community; but to refute the absurd and malicious lies that are being circulated by innuendo and otherwise by interested people who seem to fear that a new, vigorous and enterprising organization may interfere with their personal income or their personal plans.

For two years, the Gazette has unfalteringly stood where it will unfalteringly stand forever in the future, viz: for every organization that makes towards a Greater Colorado Springs; for every institution that adds to the earning, culture and morality of the city; for every individual citizen that is progressive and honest; for every enterprise that will bring a desirable new population, and for every industry that will add legitimate wealth to the city or state.

The Gazette has been the unwavering champion of the mining exchange, the chamber of commerce, the Colorado college and the public schools, and it will continue to be such champion just so long as those institutions endeavor to fulfill their respective missions as faithfully as they have done in the past.

Neither has the Gazette any personal or political axes to grind. The editor of this paper was urged to go upon the board of trustees of the new club by the entire nominating committee aside from himself, but he unqualifiedly refused for the reason that this newspaper could do more effective work for the organization and for its objects and purposes if no person connected with the paper was upon that board.

It therefore, ill becomes any employe of the chamber of commerce or anyone else to impugn the motives of citizens or newspapers in any attempt to develop and upbuild the city, and to make it greater and more attractive.

There is work enough here for all of us, and no public-spirited citizen who is honest and no public body that is sincere in the service of the public will throw any bricks or shie any castors at any movement, organization or individual effort that attempts to add to the growth, prosperity or progress of the community.

This city is at the forks of the road. One year will determine whether it is to go forward for years to come to a commanding position among the cities and resorts of the country, or whether it is to take the side track and forever to remain an inferior resort for cheap tourists and a third-class city for fourth-class business enterprises and business men. Like thousands of others, the owners of the Gazette have too much capital invested to permit of the city being sidetracked without exhausting every effort to go forward on the main line, on broad-gauge business principles, and with an enthusiasm that is justified by every natural resource and by every natural surrounding.

The Gazette expends $10,000 per month in this city, and its owners have over $100,000 invested in machinery, plant and equipment, and if anyone is searching for a selfish motive for our efforts in the expansion line, HERE IT IS.

From the beginning of the talk of the new Business Men's club up to the present time, every person connected with the movement has repeatedly stated that it was not the intention to conflict with the chamber of commerce, mining exchange or any other public organization, but, on the contrary, to aid and assist those organizations and to do other work that those organizations could not well do.

One of the most valuable organizations in Denver is the real estate exchange, and it works entirely independently of the chamber of commerce.

In the old days, when Denver was making giant strides forward, whenever outsiders needed to be impressed with the public spirit of the city, the real estate exchange, the mining exchange and the chamber of commerce would each, acting independently, indorse certain public plans, or encourage certain private enterprises seeking a favorable location, and ere long the stranger would feel that the whole city was interested in him and his welfare, as well as acting unitedly and powerfully through different channels for everything that made for a greater city.

There is no room in the work before us for jealousy, pettiness, selfishness or an overweening desire to be THE part of any person or organization.

This city needs a first-class real estate exchange, acting along lines of its own.

With the mining exchange, filling its field, with a real estate exchange, filling its field, with the chamber of commerce, filling its field, and with the new Commercial club, filling its field, and with the Elks, always public-spirited and active, there should be very little that Colorado Springs cannot accomplish.

No one should attempt to clip the wings of enthusiasm or effort on the part of any other person, and while courtesy of action is essential, still what the people want is RESULTS, RESULTS, RESULTS, AND NOT TALK AND NOT DRESS PARADE.

THE CZAR AS A REFORMER.

REFORM announcement is made on what appears to be good authority that Czar Nicholas has entered upon a genuine effort to learn the real cause of Russian discontent, with the purpose of securing a remedy for existing abuses.

There is nothing incredible in such a statement. The Czar may be by appearance the autocratic monarch of Russia, but he is by no means its chief oppressor. It was Czar Alexander II. who freed the serfs, though he fell under the bullets of the assassin many years later, and even at the time of his death he was perfecting the plans for a representative and parliamentary government.

The real tyrants of Russia are the office holders and the privileged customs and laws by which they are surrounded in place, and it is these privileged classes who will be the most vitiating conditions who will be the most earnest in their opposition of any attempt at reform on the part of the czar.

Due to the circle of surrounding Nihilists, the czar has won for himself the love and respect of his subjects. There is the belief that if the Father knew what his children were suffering, he would secure them relief. He may be merely taking the opportunity to do a popular thing, but his country and his people will be willing to accept it as a much better reason for this than the supposition that it is a reform for which he has been long waiting.

MISDIRECTED TALENTS.

SUCH a case as that of the convict, Tracy, seems to give color to the belief that crime is a case of misdirected energy, and that the efforts of society might more profitably be exerted towards reforming than to punishing or exterminating the criminal.

The ability with which Tracy has in turn defied and eluded his pursuers would in a better cause have entitled him to general praise and admiration from his fellow-citizens, and it seems really a pity that so much skill, endurance and energy should be directed against the common welfare, rather than for its benefit.

But after all, it is directed against society, that is to say, against the comfort and well being of the fellow-men of the criminal. Our appreciation of his talents should not lead us into any sympathy for his crimes or any approval of his defiance of the law. The most dangerous criminal is the talented one and the success with which he is able to defy the law becomes the measure of his deserved punishment when the law is finally able to enforce its penalties.

Captain Pohl of the Germany navy has a new version of the American-German misunderstanding at Manila. A short time ago any information on this subject would have aroused more interest, but now nobody cares very much what the German navy did, said or thought in the Philippines.

FROM THE PRESS OF THE NATION.

What Ails Currency Reform.

(Portland (Oregonian.)

It is strange that nobody ever thought of it before, but a Washington letter of the New York Journal of Commerce explains just what has operated to prevent the enactment of any general currency bill, and will operate in all probability to prevent any such measure from success in congress for many years. The Fowler bill has failed, and why? It seems that were the utterances of various members to be tabulated, it would be found that scarcely any provision of currency reform would get as many as two or three supporters who would unite upon it. One man does not believe in the redemption of the silver dollar. Another feels that the greenbacks are a useful part of our circulation. A third complains that he never could see any virtue in "asset currency," a fourth that branch banking is wholly distasteful to him, a fifth that the idea of allowing clearing-houses to issue gold certificates is absurd. There is not a note in the chorus that is in accord with any other.

Now, it has been the consistent course of our currency reformers, who are right in the main, to gather up in the Indianapolis bill, or the Fowler bill, or the Hill bill, a multitude of proposals each of which is sure to recruit small but determined opposition to the whole measure. Failure in such case is a foregone conclusion. Doubtless that is what defeated Mr. Conant's Philippine banking and coinage system, though the union of all wise proposals was unavoidable in the comprehensive act that had to be passed by itself. No general bill has ever become law. The silver repeal bill of 1893 was limited to a single enactment; so was the bill repealing the National bank charters. Somewhat broader in scope was the gold standard and refunding bill of March 14, 1900; but that, it is worth noticing, retained several most reprehensible provisions and concessions which may retrospectively be given credit for securing it immunity from defeat. However good the chief end of a currency law may be, it must contain a liberal sprinkling of danger and error in order to win the support or silence the opposition of our illustrious and inscrutable statesmen.

What, then, to do? Why, form the attack in view of the defenses. Set up the reform proposals in a multitude of little bills which will put each in hopeful opposition to its own small and determined body of dullards and miscreants. When you tackle the old treasury notes, don't drive the free coinage fellows to the support of the greenbacks. When you move against the silver accumulations with a proposal for subsidiary coinage out of the Sherman bullion, keep in line and don't drive over to the silverite forces the conservatives who hesitate at asset currency. We should say that if in this way the Fowler bill were broken up into its constituent parts and introduced separately by men hitherto unsuspected of human intelligence, the entire reform outfit, thus homoeopathized and resolved into innocuous appearing fragments, might be put and directly through the enemy's lines without the loss of a single piece. Why should civilization renounce its superiority by driving the scattered barbarians into coherent union without any conscious tactics on their part? In fighting the silverite savages and greenback gorillas the force of progress should use the brains God has given them for that purpose.

The Lesson of Municipal Corruption.

(Chicago Tribune.)

The repeated disclosures of the seeming inability of the voters in American cities to elect trustworthy councils and executive officers, except by fits and starts, ought to have an effect on the men who are demanding "the municipal ownership of all public utilities," but it does not. They wish to intrust to aldermen and to mayors the control of street railroads and gas plants, and overlook the important fact that in "this land of the free and home of the brave" city officials are not invariably honest and efficient.

It is unnecessary to inquire why the application of Democratic theories in American cities often has such disagreeable results. That there are such results is not denied. The municipal scandals which are of such frequent occurrence prove that at certain times and in certain places Americans cannot govern themselves satisfactorily. If the public utilities men were not the victims of a fixed idea they would see that it is unwise to give municipalities more powers until they have made it clear that they will always make good use of the powers they already have.

How It Might be Celebrated.

(Providence Journal.)

Americans who have been in France on the 14th of July, the anniversary of the storming of the Bastille, when the whole country is en fete, have had an opportunity to observe a celebration of a national holiday which is in striking contrast to our own methods of commemorating the birth of the United States. The French people have an especial capacity for enjoyment of this kind; and that gaiete de coeur which characterizes them is perhaps impossible of imitation by a less facile race. But the contrast between the Fourteenth in France and the Fourth here need not be quite so decided. Americans might give expression to their good spirits without making day and night hideous with noise, and without endangering property and life by the reckless use of gunpowder. Even in Paris, a large city with elements of disorder enough, there is seldom any harm done. The day is not only one of public rejoicing; it is also one of domestic festivity. Contrary to the impression which a superficial knowledge of the capital gives, the home feeling of the French is very strong. At all festivities the family, or perhaps several families together, have a particular celebration. This is in itself a conservative factor. In America, on the contrary, holidays emphasize the decay of the family life. Our crowds seem to be made up mainly of detached individuals.

A conspicuous feature of the French celebration—and it may be noted in Paris well nigh as readily as in the provincial towns—is the family excursion. Although the cafes are filled all day, there is a constant procession from the city of small knots of people, young one, old, bound for St. Cloud or some other suburb, intent upon the rational pleasure of a day out of doors. We have our excursions here, but they are usually of a very different kind—a turbulent rabble, many of whom will be drunk before the day is over, bound for some resort, preferably that where the crowd is largest and the most disorder may be expected. The French excursionists will not drink cold water, but they will come back in the afternoon, sober, ready for the illuminations, the fire-works, the public dancing of the evening. Perhaps the question is not so much one of morals as one of taste. There may be wise, but it will not interfere with the enjoyments of virtue. The exact features of the celebration in France could not be reproduced here, nor is it desirable, even if we wished, that they should be, but in the matter of a reasonable degree of noise we have very much to learn.

It is singular how little we make of the opportunities for a celebration of the national holiday. Our one resource is gunpowder. Something is to be said, no doubt, for its use, but there should be restrictions. There is a growing feeling against the customs which end in a sad list of casualties; yet so strong is the force of habit that year after year the same round goes on. It would be no dreadful exercise of police tyranny if all explosives were forbidden except in certain defined places and under certain rigid restrictions. People who have passed beyond the barbaric stage should find greater satisfaction in other ways. It is remarkable that we do so little in the way of public and private decoration. How much more attractive a city would be if gay colors everywhere prevailed, if flags floated from every coign of vantage. Suppose there were more good music. Suppose that the night before were devoted to illuminations, to impromptu processions that were really pleasing to the eye, and something more than a moving tempest of hideous sound. The tradition of gunpowder is extremely potent, and possibly nothing less than drastic legislation will put an end to it. But noise as the one method of expression certainly does not speak well for the state of civilization reached by a great republic after a century and a quarter of existence.

An Old Roorback Revived.

(Hartford Post.)

The Hartford Times of Thursday afternoon with characteristic unfairness made an attack on the title of Marshall Jewell to the governorship of Connecticut in 1871. The Times knows, as everyone in the state who has kept himself informed concerning state election results knows, that the title of Governor Jewell was impregnable. When the legislature came together, May 3, 1871, the whole state was in a ferment in view of the election frauds that had been perpetrated by the Democrats in one of the New Haven wards. The legislative joint select committee on the canvass of votes for governor and state officers was instructed to inquire into allegations of petitions of Charles S. Scott, of Augustus C. Peck and of David Brainard, to issue subpoenas for witnesses, to send for persons and papers, "to open and examine such ballot boxes as said committee may find necessary in the proper and efficient conduct of such examination." It was provided that all sessions of the committee should be public. In the senate the instruction to the committee was adopted on a yea and nay vote, 12 to 7. Senator George A. Fay of the old Sixth district was the senate chairman of the committee. The house members of the committee were Amos S. Trent of Woodbridge, Charles R. Ingersoll of New Haven, John T. Wait of Norwich, James T. Pratt of Wethersfield, John M. Hall of Windham, Edward W. Seymour of Litchfield, D. Ward Northrop of Middletown and George Maxwell of Vernon.

Mr. Treat of Woodbridge introduced the resolution in the house authorizing the investigation. The petitioners belonged, David Brainard in Enfield, Augustus C. Peck in Cheshire, and Charles S. Scott in New Haven. The publicity feature of the hearings to be had by the committee was brought about by Mr. Ingersoll. Messrs. Ingersoll, Seymour and Northrop declined to serve on the committee, but the house would not agree to that course.

It is known throughout the state that the election frauds complained of in the state election were in New Haven, where the votes of one ward had been returned in favor of Governor English. Scores of reputable men came forward during the hearing and made affidavit that they voted for Marshall Jewell for governor. Their affidavits gave the ward to Governor Jewell. On May 10, when the house reassembled after the recess, the committee reported that it had made a full investigation of the canvassers' report, the returns of the presiding officers and the several petitions referred to the committee, and that it found Hon. Marshall Jewell had been legally chosen governor and the other state officers on the ticket with him legally chosen to the other several state offices respectively. The committee recommended the passage of a joint resolution declaring His Excellency Marshall Jewell to be duly and legally elected governor. Messrs. Treat of Woodbridge and Wait of Norwich supported the resolution in the debate, and it was opposed by Mr. Ingersoll and Henry Stoddard from New Haven.

At the evening session of the house, the Hon. John M. Hall, now president of the Consolidated road, took up the discussion in support of Governor Jewell's election. William W. Eaton was opposed. The previous question was ordered on the motion of William D. Bishop of Bridgeport. The resolution was carried on a yea and nay vote, 123 to 100. Judge David Torrance, now chief justice of the supreme court, Dr. George S. Miller of Suffield, afterwards insurance commissioner, John H. Whittemore of Naugatuck, Lorenzo Blackstone of Norwich, George B. Moulton of Windham, Julius W. Knowlton, now of Bridgeport, Major James W. Cheney of Manchester, Thaddeus H. Spencer of Suffield and Roger Wolcott of Wethersfield were prominent representatives in the yea vote.

The senate concurred with the house May 11, in declaring Governor Jewell duly and legally elected. The Hon. Morris Tyler of New Haven, the father of President Morris F. Tyler of the Southern New England Telephone company, was elected lieutenant-governor. The associate staff officers were Hiram Appleman, secretary of state, David S. Nichols, treasurer, and James W. Manning comptroller.

The technicality of the Times in regard to the "second legislative day" is of no account. Its assertion that Governor English was declared by an illegal act is worthless. The courts of the state were open to Governor English at the time and his claims could have been settled without difficulty, if he had entertained the idea that he had been elected by the fraudulent returns from New Haven.

(New York Press.)

If any proof is needed of the wisdom of the decision by a few courageous congress leaders to resist and defeat the cheap political joke whereby most of our warships would be built in navy yards the evidence comes quickly of bring itself. No sooner does the bill prove to have only one warship constructed in a government yard as an experiment than a political club of the Twenty-eighth assembly district in New York city immediately meets and calls on its congressman to have the ship built at the Brooklyn navy yard. Now, the club in question cares fully as much as a club for the efficiency of the United States navy as any other political club. What it cares most about, however, is for the employment which the construction of a warship at the navy yard will give to some of its political favorites. This is the chief interest the club has in the construction of one of the new ships. That, perhaps, would in time become the outer interest of the congressman. It would have been the same story everywhere if the government had made the mistake of putting the construction of its battleships in the hands of the politicians.

As matters now stand in congress the cross-purposes statesmanship is potentially to do more or mar the navy than is good for the present military readiness or future standing of the United States as a naval power. Instead of the ships in navy yards being made up wise as to turn out the navy's fighting men of the two national navy yards alike, it is as they fall as patronage "plums."

RAILWAY MEN IN MEETING HERE SOON

Transcontinental Passenger Association Will Hold a Several Days Gathering at the Antlers Beginning July 15.

One of the most important gatherings of railway passenger men in the United States during the present year will be the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger association to be held at the Antlers in this city beginning July 15.

This association will bring to Colorado Springs about 60 of the leading railway men of the west, the association including and controlling all business between the cities of the central west and the Pacific coast. Its business is described technically as that originating at or east of St. Paul, Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis and New Orleans and running west to the eastern boundary of Nevada.

The meeting will begin here on the 15th and will continue as long as there is business to be transacted. Local railway men are considerably interested in the preparations for the gathering and it is likely that the citizens will also take an interest in arranging matters so that the distinguished visitors who have done and are doing more than any other class of men to build up Colorado and the west will have a pleasant stay during their sessions in this city.

Dress Military Ball at the Antlers

The management of the Antlers hotel has issued invitations to a reception and full dress ball for this evening in honor of the Armour cadets of Chicago. The governor and his staff will be in attendance, and the affair will be one of the largest and finest given by the Antlers management this season. It will be preceded by an exhibition drill in front of the hotel by the Armour cadets, at which the governor and his staff will be present.

The committee having the ball in charge consists of J. W. Wright, chairman; Dr. C. A. Holder, I. N. Stevens, George Rex Buckman, J. McK. Ferriday, Clarence P. Dodge, Philip D. Wilson, R. P. Davis, J. J. Key and W. H. Rogers. This committee will arrange for the decorations of the ballroom and attend to the many details, and will be present to contribute as much as they can to the success and enjoyment of the occasion.

The invitation list is a large one, and it is expected that between 200 and 300 guests will be present. Manager Marucchi, assisted by the committee, is making extensive preparations for the event. The floral resources of the hotel will be utilized in the ballroom decorations, together with cut flowers and other decorations. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock.

City Officials Likely to Wait Last Contract

The bids for the carpenter work on the new court house were opened yesterday, but no contract has yet been awarded. There were only two bidders, and as one was much lower than the other, the matter of awarding the contract is practically settled, although the commissioners could not state yesterday just when the matter could be settled.

John Hill of this city offered to do all the carpenter work and painting on the building for $43,215.15. The bid of D. W. Walsh was $55,594.79. Because of the wide discrepancy in these two bids, the county commissioners came to the decision that Hill's bid must be too low, and instead of awarding him the contract they held a consultation to see if he had taken all the necessary matters into consideration. It was found that he had not, and the commissioners will permit him to raise his price a few thousand dollars, after which it is likely that the contract will be awarded to him.

There were two bidders on the painting work alone. Parker & Shropshire offered to do it for $7,744, and the Cowgill-Fowler Wall Paper company for $7,500.

The county commissioners emphatically refused to consider the bids of those contractors who wanted to do the work on commission, as they have had disastrous experience with this kind of work in the erecting of the county poorhouse.

Immigrant Bureau to Meet Friday

As announced in the dispatches from the east published in the Gazette yesterday, the western immigrant bureau is to meet in Colorado Springs on July 14 for the purpose of completing business begun at a meeting held in Chicago on Monday of this week.

One of the reasons for the meeting's being adjourned to be resumed in Colorado Springs was the fact that the Transcontinental Passenger association will be in session beginning on the 15th, and a good many of the men interested in the one will also be delegates in attendance upon the convention of the other.

The Western Immigrant bureau is an organization related closely to the Western Passenger association. It has for its object the directing of immigrant travel from the New York immigrant bureau to the sections of the west to which the new comers to this country desire to go. In former years there has been a great deal of misdirected energy in the handling of the immigrants and it has afforded opportunities for sending the foreigners by expensive roundabout routes to the members they have desired to reach, the railroads working each for itself and in many instances taking advantage of the ignorance of the newcomers as a result of which they have been put to inconvenience and needless expense.

The Western Immigrant bureau has a representative in New York city and also has representative of each of the railroads belonging to the bureau. It is his province to ascertain the wishes of the immigrants as to the place they desire to reach, be then routes them to that destination by the shortest and most advantageous route, dividing the business between competing lines in accordance with the proportion of regular business handled by each of the lines.

Some matters that need attention by the Western Immigrant bureau this year could not be attended to in the session held in Chicago Monday because of the absence of some of the members, and it is expected that there will be a full attendance at the meeting to be held here on the 14th.

The widest possible publicity should be given to the fact that summer diarrhoea in children and cholera infantum can always be cured by the judicious use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It never fails. When reduced with cold water and sweetened it is pleasant to take, which is very important when a medicine must be given to small children. For sale by all druggists.

Rains in Kansas Damage to Railroads

Butchers and provision dealers of this city had a scare yesterday and for a while it looked as if there might be a violent rise in the price of meat with which the members of the beef trust had nothing to do, the cause of the trouble being the floods throughout the middle west, which have caused some serious delays to both passenger and freight traffic on all transcontinental railroads.

Washouts in Kansas made almost all trains several hours late. At the Santa Fe offices last night it was stated that trains were going through all right with little delay and no further trouble was anticipated. No orders were received at the local offices of the Rock Island to refuse to sell tickets on account of the floods and all trains went out on time. For that reason it is believed here that passengers can be taken through to Chicago via Horton and St. Joseph. Several through travelers who arrived last night suggested that a steamboat service be established east from the Colorado state line.

Unless the rains which were reported yesterday did fresh damage, however, there will probably be no further difficulty in getting trains through and in keeping the wholesale and retail larders well stocked with supplies.

College Colony Again Makes Gift to Library

A pleasant feature of the meeting of the school board yesterday morning was the announcement that Judge E. A. Colburn of Denver, formerly of this city, had added $1,000 to his already munificent gifts to the fund for the High school library, the sum being available for immediate use.

Mr. Colburn has previous to this time given about $4,000 for the purchase of books for the High school library, and it is probable that in the future he will contribute materially to its enlargement, as he believes that the library will be more valuable if the books are added as their need becomes apparent, than if a large sum were given and a great number of books added at one time.

The gifts of Judge Colburn to the High school have been made largely through the influence of the Rev. Edward Braislin, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, who, in co-operation with the heads of the various departments, will select the books which will be purchased. The teachers will make lists of the volumes they consider to be for the best interests of their department, and Dr. Braislin will have the final decision in the matter, the object being to secure the latest scientific attainments in every direction.

A resolution was passed by the board acknowledging the gift, thanking Judge Colburn for it, and expressing heartfelt appreciation of the giver's interest in the establishment of a fine working library for the school.

TO BRING A BAND OF INDIANS HERE

It is possible that a band of New Mexico Indians will be on exhibition in this city within a few weeks if the arrangement now being made are carried out.

A. J. Ortiz of Denver, who is the Mexican vice consul in that city, was here yesterday, a guest of Morton Jones. Mr. Ortiz left last evening for New Mexico where he is going to secure a band of Indians for exhibition at Elitch's gardens in Denver during the present month.

Mr. Ortiz desires to show them in this city after they are brought back from Denver, and from the brief discussion of the matter which he had yesterday it is probable that arrangements will be made whereby the band will be brought to this city and exhibited in one of the public parks.

WANTS DAMAGES FOR INJURY TO HIS NAME

"He is a thief; he stole my Scotch deer hound and a lot of dogs which I know he stole."

This is what H. W. Bevin is charged with saying of Alexander McLain, the plaintiff in a suit brought against Bevin in the county court yesterday. It is also charged that Bevin had McLain up before Justice Ruby for theft. That on two separate occasions in the presence of witnesses he called him a thief, and that the plaintiff suffered incarceration and much damage to his good name.

Indeed, the complaint states that McLain, who is a well known coachman and kennelman of this city, has been so injured that he has not been able to obtain employment in the city since January 26, last. On June 26 McLain was arrested and on June 30 he was acquitted before Justice Ruby of committing the theft. McLain is suing Bevin for $1,000 in which sum he claims to have been damaged by the persecution to which he was subjected, and he also asks for $500 damages for each of the two times that Bevin is alleged to have called him a thief.

ANTLERS FIRE CASE MAY CLOSE THIS WEEK

The Antlers fire case was again on yesterday, and the witnesses for the defense were examined in quick order. Judge Cunningham is making a record for dispatch. Care is taken to omit all that is irrelevant and immaterial, and the wrangling of the attorneys are quickly cut short.

It now appears as if the defense would rest the last of this week. There will probably be some rebuttal testimony to introduce on the part of the prosecution, but it is not thought that this will occupy many days.

It was announced yesterday that Judge Cunningham will hear no more cases in this city after the present one is terminated. He is needed in Cripple Creek. The calendar is crowded, but an effort will be made to clear it up in some way. Judge Northcut of Trinidad will be here August 6 for one week to hear civil cases.

Mr. D. G. C. MacNeill, sometime a broker of this city, and now the manager of the Guadaloupe mine at Guanajuato, Mexico, arrived in the city yesterday and is registered with Mrs. MacNeill at the Antlers.

Mr. MacNeill reports that there is a great deal of activity in the Guanajuato district at the present time, and that much capital is coming in from this country and Europe.

"Many Colorado Springs investors are represented there," he said. "Mr. Frank G. Peck is developing the San Prospero and Victoria properties, while Eddy, Key & Co. are doing well with their Refugio mine.

"The Guadaloupe property, with which I am connected, consists of 225 acres, and adjoins properties which have produced $1,000,000. We are doing good development work, and everything is progressing nicely."

One of the notable figures in the recent Denver convention of the International Sunday School association was the Rev. C. R. Blackall, D. D., M. D., editor of some of the periodical publications of the Baptist denomination. Dr. and Mrs. Blackall have been at the Alta Vista hotel for a few days, and left last night via the Rock Island for their home in Philadelphia. While here Dr. Blackall took the Short Line trip and was impressed with the grandeur of its scenery. The doctor is a famous traveler, having been at various times all over the world and he says that the Short Line surpasses in beauty anything he has ever seen of its kind.

FARMERS' GRAIN AND MILLING TRUST

By Associated Press.

Topeka, Kas., July 9.—At a conference held in this city today between Walter Vrooman and representatives of the various milling and grain concerns of the state, plans were discussed for the formation of a "farmers' grain and milling trust." All parties concerned were favorable to the organization, and the foundation of the concern was laid. It is likely that the plans will be completed within a short time and that the new crop of grain will be handled.

The idea is to do away with the middlemen and handle the wheat product of the state directly from the farmer to the elevators and millers without paying a commission. The Vrooman line of co-operative stores, the Joliet milks and a line of elevators, the Kansas Co-operative Grain company, now of eight elevators on the Union Pacific and the Western Missouri, expect to [illegible]

FOUR PERSONS WERE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Special to the Gazette.

Palmer Lake, July 9.—At about 3 o'clock this afternoon, during a heavy hail and rain storm, lightning struck the store building of W. M. Clark, knocking the inmates senseless and shaking up the building badly.

At the time of the stroke, W. M. Clark, proprietor of the store, his son Charles, aged 15, John Gilmore, aged 12 and William Riley, aged 24, were seated about the stove. Riley and young Clark had their feet on the stove at the time. The lightning ran down the stovepipe, knocking the whole group senseless. Charles Clark was severely injured, a gash being torn in his foot and his trousers leg torn off and Riley's left leg was paralyzed. W. M. Clark and young Gilmore recovered soon. Dr. J. B. Kinney of Glen Park was called to attend the injured men and both cases are under his care tonight. They are resting easily and will both recover.

The damage to the building is not serious. The flue was badly cracked, some of the shingles and weatherboarding torn off and the plastering shaken off inside. About an inch and a half of hail fell during the storm.

"BUFFALO" JONES GOES TO YELLOWSTONE PARK

By Associated Press.

Washington, July 9.—Charles J. Jones, popularly known as "Buffalo" Jones, was appointed buffalo warden today for the Yellowstone park. Mr. Jones has devoted much attention to the preservation of the American bison and was largely instrumental in obtaining an appropriation during the last session of congress for the establishment of a government buffalo ranch in the Yellowstone park. This establishment will be in Mr. Jones' charge.

By Associated Press.

Topeka, Kas., July 9.—C. J. Jones, today appointed Buffalo warden in the Yellowstone park, lives in Topeka. He is said to be the best informed man in the country concerning the habits of the buffalo. In the early '60s, on the plains, Mr. Jones killed thousands of buffalo on contract. He soon became convinced that the slaughter was useless, and from that time used his efforts to stop the extermination of the animals. For his efforts in this direction he is called "Buffalo" Jones. Mr. Jones has traveled in the Arctic regions on missions for the government. He tried to capture some specimens of the musk ox while there to place on the government reserves in this country.

NEW PANAMA CANAL COMPANY'S TITLE

Washington, July 9.—Charles W. Russell, the special attorney of the department of justice who has been delegated to proceed to Paris to examine the title of the new Panama Canal company, left here this afternoon for Atlantic City, where he will hold a final consultation with Attorney-general Knox. Judge Russell expects to sail within a week for France. The date of the departure of the attorney-general, who will join Mr. Russell in Paris to make the final examination of the title, has not yet been definitely fixed but it probably will be early in August.

Washington, July 9.—The comptroller of the treasury today decided that the salaries and expenses of the Louisiana Purchase exposition commission could not be paid until the provision of the act appropriating $5,000,000 for the exposition, which requires "as a condition precedent that the directors shall contract to close the gates to visitors on Sunday during the whole duration of the fair" is executed.

THE STRATTON C. K. & N.

Directors Make Application to the Mining Stock Association—Good Record of the Property.

The directors of the C. K. & N. Co. have applied for the stock to be listed as a mine on the Colorado Springs mining stock exchange, and there is little doubt that this will be done, as the Raeler mine, owned by the company, has made one of the most wonderful showings of any mine in the district this year.

Since the first of the year, the property has produced $63,068.50, and since the annual meeting last month, when so splendid a showing was made, Lessee Granfield has shipped $20,535.49, gross value.

There is now cash in the treasury of the company $9,205.58, the company having received $3,501.02 in royalties since June 9, when the annual meeting was held.

A large percentage of the ore shipped since the beginning of the year came from the 300-foot level, but Lessee Granfield was driven out of that level by water. He immediately started drifting for the ore in the 500-foot level, and has opened it even richer than it was below. There appears to be no defined vein, but the ore lies in the granite, and is of fabulous richness in spots.

A couple of weeks ago, two shipments were settled for as follows: Twenty-two tons, $172.60; 51 tons, $57.70.

Yesterday returns were received as follows: Forty-three tons, $48.90; 22 tons, $84.40.

This is a remarkable showing, and the Granfield lease will go on record as one of the bonanza leases in the history of Cripple Creek. The lease has until November 30, 1904, to run.

CRESSON COMPANY TO DEVELOP BULL HILL CLAIM

The directors of the Cresson Consolidated company have formulated a plan for the development of its well-located Bull hill property. Although so well located, adjoining Stratton's properties, it has not been sought by lessees, and the company has not felt able to work it on company account.

It is therefore proposed that a leasing company be organized, and that the stockholders of the company, mostly located in Chicago, where the officers live, subscribe to the stock. No person will be allowed to take less than $100 worth or more than $2,500, and all subscriptions should be sent to the secretary, C. H. Rea, 205 La Salle street, Chicago, as early as possible.

The property is already equipped with a 300-foot shaft, and it is believed by the directors that excellent results will follow really thorough development work. It is proposed to call the leasing company the Bull Hill Mining and Development company, and the plans for its organization are stated in a circular as follows:

"The capital stock of the development company is divided into 25,000 shares of a par value of $1 per share. Stock is to be subscribed and paid for in the following manner: Forty per cent, on or before July 20, 1902, the balance to be called for only if needed, and to become due in such case in two assessments of 30 per cent, each, on July 29, 1903, and July 29, 1904, respectively, or sooner if the directors require it, giving sufficient notice thereof. The first assessment of 40 cents per share is to provide a sufficient sum to begin and carry on energetic operations for a period of one year. The other assessments to be paid as above provided. All stock in treasury stock and the proceeds from the sale of same are to be applied for development work. The direction of the company operations is to be under the supervision of a board of directors, who will employ a competent superintendent, to be assisted by a well-known and successful mining engineer. Work to be started at once and vigorously pushed."

DEMASTERS TAKES LEASE ON THE MAGGIE CLAIM

The owners of the Maggie claim nine acres adjoining the Gold Sovereign on Bull hill, have just leased it to A. D. Demasters of this city for a term of two years at 20 per cent. royalty, and given him a bond on the claim in the sum of $150,000.

Mr. Demasters is prepared to go to work and thoroughly develop this property. It has been mined to a depth of 300 feet, where the water is at a level, and a quantity of low-grade ore has been taken out. The vein in places is 12 feet in width, and the ore averages between $15 and $20 in gold to the ton. The lessees who have been working the mine for the past few months have been unable to make the ore pay, and their contract was cancelled because they violated its regulations.

Now that treatment charges on low-grade ores are more favorable to lessees, especially those made by the new Telluride mill, there is a premium on low-grade propositions such as the Maggie. Mr. Demasters will develop it thoroughly to its present depth, opening up the ore bodies in a way they have never been opened before, and, under the requirements of his contract, sink 100 feet a year.

MINING NOTES A[illegible]

The properties of the Scranton Gold Mining company have been sold on a judgment obtained by F. L. Fox, amounting to $1,917.33. There will be the usual grace allowed for redemption, and it was understood in this city yesterday that already the directors are considering arrangements whereby the ground may be saved to the stockholders. The indebtedness has been standing for some time, and it was only after all other resources had been taken that the ground was finally allowed to go to sale.

NEW PLANT RECEIVED BY ANGLO-AMERICAN

The Anglo-American company, which has a lease on the south end of block 7 of School Section 16, has just received its new hoist which is now being put in place. The hoist is 6x8 in size, and there is an 80-horse power boiler just received on the ground. A compressor is also expected in a day or two, after which work on this property will be resumed with energy. The company has opened a very promising vein at a depth of 85 feet, and although the values are as yet low, it is believed that there is a very good chance of developing a mine at depth. The shaft will be put down considerably deeper, and levels will be run off at stated intervals to explore the vein.

RETURNS RECEIVED ON HOOSIER LESSEE SHIPMENT

Returns have just been received on a car of ore recently marketed from one of the leases on the Hoosier claim of the Grafton Gold Mining company, showing values of $70 in gold to the ton. This ore is coming from the 300-foot level where a very fair body of the mineral has been developed since the lessees started work. All the work which is now being done on this property is lessee work, and the showing is much more promising than when it was being operated on company account. Shipments are got out frequently, and the values are running very well. The company, it is understood, will soon resume work on its own account, sinking the shaft for another lift on the ore.

ORE WILL BE SHIPPED FROM BONANZA KING LEASE

Ore will be shipped before the end of the week from a sub-lease on the Bonanza King property on Gold hill. C. A. Fitch, who has a lease on block 23 has granted a sub-lease to Floyd Carter, who has started work in ore. The vein is a good one, and a fair shoot has been developed at slight depth. Fitch himself is doing very well, getting out some ore right along. The Bonanza King property is one of the most active on this part of Gold hill, and is shipping a considerable tonnage all the time. The property has always been operated, for the most part, by lessees, and under this system it has been quite productive for a number of years.

NEARING AN ORE SHOOT ON THE SCHOOL SECTION

Brisk development is being prosecuted on block 30 of the School section by Swift and Poley who have a lease on the property. Their shaft is 250 feet deep, and they are now drifting toward block 7, where at a depth of 85 feet, lessees have opened a very promising vein. It is believed that when this vein is cut in block 30 at the present depth it will show much better values than it is now showing in block 7 at a depth of 85 feet. The drift is now coming into some values in the breast which indicates that it is in the neighborhood of the ore shoot. Assays from the stringers are already running pay.

SHIPMENT LEFT THE ACACIA'S BURNS YESTERDAY

Clyde Fitch, leasing on the Burns claim of the Acacia Gold Mining company marketed 25 tons of ore yesterday which, it is believed, will be settled for at the rate of about $50 in gold to the ton. The ore is coming from the ore shoot in which Mr. Fitch has been working for some time and which promises to contribute to the output of the Acacia property for some time longer. The property is not making the output which it was a few months ago, and some discouragement is felt especially as Owenby and McFarlane have failed to open ore, so far, in the 825-foot level.

SHIPMENT MADE FROM THE FAIR CHANCE CLAIM

Lessees on the Fair Chance property have marketed a shipment of 15 tons this week which they expect to run $50 in gold to the ton. The ore is coming from a vein which was opened through the Good Will tunnel, and the work which the company is now doing is through this tunnel. The body of ore is a small one, and the values are not as firm as they might be, but it is believed that development work will show an improvement, as the vein is a strong one. There is quite a large amount of work being done through this tunnel at the present time and the company is deriving a slight income as the result of the operations carried on through the bore.

GOOD ASSAYS COMING FROM THE JANET W.

It is reported from Cripple Creek that some wonderfully rich assays are being obtained from the Janet W. claim, adjoining the properties of the El Paso Consolidated on Beacon hill. The claim is being developed by two sets of lessees, and in the progress of sinking some very high values have been encountered, one of the assays running as high as $7,000 in gold to the ton. The Janet W. claim, belonging to the Republic Gold Mining company, has produced some of the richest specimens which ever came from Cripple Creek. The main workings are now leased to a strong man who believes that the claim can also be made a producer of some of the richest ore ever mined in the district.

LUCANIA TUNNEL IS NOW IN 800 FEET.

The Lucania tunnel on fair river an enterprise of Wright, Dill and company of this city, is now in for a distance of 200 feet, and although the granite through which it is being driven is very hard, excellent progress is being made. A record of forty-seven feet in twenty-seven days has recently been made. The tunnel is double tracked to the breast, while a water box is kept as near the breast as convenient. The work on this property has stimulated much interest and some activity in this section.

OMAR MINE WILL GET ANOTHER GOOD VEIN.

H. A. Riegel returned yesterday from a trip to the property of the Omar company at Idaho Springs, where he had conducted a party of Omaha capitalists. He reports that the Holland tunnel is making good progress, and that within the next 300 feet of work a rich vein will be cut which has recently been discovered in the Calloway mine, adjoining the Omar. The tunnel is being driven in under a 100-foot contract, and as soon as this expires another one will be granted.

The regular weekly hop of the Iron Springs hotel was held Tuesday evening and the attendance was even greater than it was the week previous. The music was excellent and the dancing continued until a late hour. Several from Colorado Springs came over and there were also a great many from the other hotels. The Cliff house sent up quite a party. The regular orchestra furnished the music and refreshments were served during the evening. Following are the names of some of those present: Messrs. Hillhouse, Young, Kirby, Pettibone and Joseph of the Springs, Messrs. Riker, Sells and Holt of Manitou, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stowe, Mrs. George Stowe, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Stowe and Theodore Langwell of Galveston, Tex., Mrs. Clarke and sons, Miss Finney, the Misses Anderson, Mrs. Knox, Mrs Fay, James G. B. Snowball, Jr., Harry Lipman, Mr. Theodore Whitney, Mr. Ames, Miss Nordlinger, Mr. M. N. Holinsky, Mrs. E. M. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Gossette, Miss F. F. Helburn, Miss Carrie Brunn and Miss Eloise Lusk.

"DUTCH GUS" WAS TRIED AND DISMISSED

The preliminary trial of Gus Lemler, alias "Dutch Gus," was held in Justice Francisco's court yesterday afternoon and the prisoner dismissed, there not being sufficient evidence to hold him. Lemler was charged with enticing a young girl by the name of O'Haire from Cripple Creek, into a house of ill repute in Colorado City Sunday afternoon and was arrested by Marshal Rucker at the instigation of the girl. At the trial yesterday sufficient evidence could not be produced by the prosecution to convict Lemler and he was therefore dismissed. While the fact was established that Lemler took the girl to Colorado Springs Sunday, the evidence did not show that he endeavored to get her to go to any resort in Colorado City while on the way.

Repulsive Features.

Blackheads, pimples, greasy faces and muddy complexions, which are so common among women, especially girls at a certain age, destroying beauty, disfiguring and making repulsive features which would otherwise appear attractive and refined, indicate that the liver is out of order. An occasional dose of Herbine will cleanse the bowels, regulate the liver and so establish a clear, healthy complexion. 50c at Hedley-Arcularius Drug Co.

NEWS NOTES FROM DENVER

Trains Delayed by High Water—Died on the Train

Denver Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Denver, July 9.—The Rock Island railroad was compelled to hold its afternoon train up for the east a little over three hours in the Union depot this afternoon. The floods in the central plains caused the delay. A peculiar feature was that the road had no equipment in this city for taking out the train, all of its coaches and crews being on the road.

Chairman D. H. Fairley of the state central committee came to Denver this morning and will remain until tomorrow afternoon. This is his first visit to the city since his trip to Washington. He spent a number of hours in conference with the Republican leaders.

Alexander McDonald, formerly of Fort Jervis, N. Y., was found dead in one of the coaches on the D. & R. G. train which arrived at 7 o'clock this morning. He is supposed to have died some time during the trip between Pueblo and Colorado Springs. During the trip a number of his fellow passengers spoke to him, but receiving no reply, they supposed he was either asleep or did not carry to be molested. Great was their surprise when they attempted to arouse him after reaching Denver to find that he was dead. He was about 38 years of age, and came to Colorado some time ago for his health.

There seems to be a gang of knock-out drop players in this city. During the past week cases have been reported to the police practically every day. This morning George Aurele, a soldier from Fort Logan, was found in the Union depot acting queerly. Investigation showed that he was suffering from knockout drops. He was taken to the city hall, where he lies in a precarious condition. He states that he bought a glass of beer in a Santa Fe street saloon, and it is supposed that he received the dope there.

Judge Frost overruled a motion for a new trial in the Paul divorce case today. The case will be appealed to the state supreme court by the plaintiff, Mrs. Paul, who was trying to get a new trial.

Mrs. Nellie Gabrin, the wife of the late Representative Gabrin, fell down a flight of stairs at Central City last night, and suffered a fracture of the left arm. She was visiting friends when the accident occurred.

William H. Royston, of 2939 Champa street, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a 38-caliber revolver. Despondency over illness caused him to commit the deed. He was 63 years old, and at one time was postmaster at Moline, Ill. He has lived in Colorado 18 years.

The local railroad officials have appealed to the detective agencies of the city to try to capture a gang of pickpockets that are plying their trade on the trains between Denver and Pueblo. During the past two weeks some one of the passengers of nearly every train has been molested and relieved of his money. The principal robberies occur between Colorado Springs and Denver.

The directors of the stock show which is to be held in Denver next February have started to raise $10,000 for the purpose of carrying on the show. Committees have been appointed who will begin to solicit the funds immediately.

During a fight at 811 Lawrence street this morning John Tolliver, a negro barber, slashed his wife across the back with a razor. She is a white woman and may die.

Attorney-General Post filed a brief in the supreme court this morning supporting his application for leave to file his suit against the Smelter trust. The brief is short and deals with the legal points in its entirety.

The Colorado Real Estate association, which was formed a short time ago, is preparing to send men throughout the entire state for the purpose of interesting real estate men of the state, and try to have them join the association.

A report from Greeley, Colo., says that Jack Quinn and Ed Stagoney, two well known cowboys of eastern Colorado, have been arrested, charged with stealing cattle. The report states that their mode of operation was to catch a steer and skin off the part of hide bearing its owner's brand. After the place healed they would brand the animal on the other hip with their own brand. They vigorously denied the charge.

The funeral of Dr. Tyler was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Aside from the family it was attended by United States Senator Teller and Mrs. Henry M. Teller. Among other prominent people were Governor Orman, Attorney-General Post, Secretary of State Mills and a number of Denver business men. Rev. Horace A. Warner of Christ church conducted the funeral. The interment was at Fairmount cemetery.

The Union Pacific strikers in this city will have the assistance of President O'Connel of the International Machinists union. He will arrive in the city tomorrow, and will attend a mass meeting of the strikers tomorrow night.

N. O. A. Carver, president of the Denver Pasteurized Milk company, appeared before a local justice this morning and preferred a charge of larceny against J. W. Edwards, one of the drivers of the company. Carver claims that the drivers have been appropriating part of the money they collected for their own use.

F. F. Noxon, who owns a site for a dam in Park county, has written the board of public works a letter offering to sell the site to the city of Denver to be used for the purpose of constructing a reservoir to supply the city of Denver with water.

CRIPPLE CREEK NEWS NOTES

One Dead From Inhaling Powder Smoke and Another in Dangerous Condition.

Cripple Creek Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Cripple Creek, July 9.—James Thomas, aged 48 years, of Elkton, is dead, and James Welsh of Victor is in a dangerous condition as a result of inhaling powder smoke in Stratton's Independence, Ltd., yesterday afternoon. The two men were employed by Contractor George Gill in the 200-foot level of the Independence mine, and were single-jacketers. At 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a round of machine holes had been fired, the two men passed through the poisonous powder smoke. At the time neither of them felt more than a slight dizziness, but when Thomas boarded the F. & C. C. train for his home at Elkton, he became sick. Last night a physician was called, but notwithstanding medical attendance, he died at his home in Elkton at 10 o'clock this morning. It is thought, however, that he was suffering from heart failure and the powder smoke aggravated this disease. Drs. Polly of Elkton will hold an autopsy over the body tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Elkton. Deceased leaves a wife, a son and three daughters, who arrived here from England about seven weeks ago. James Welsh is suffering from congestion of the lungs at his home, 107 S. Seventh street in Victor. He is under a physician's care, and has a good chance for recovery.

While the office force was absent at lunch, between 12 and 1 o'clock today, a burglar entered the office of the Continental Oil company, near the F. & C. C. depot in this city. The outer door of the shaft was open, and a jimmy was used to pry open the cash drawer. The burglars secured 40 cents in stamps and a revolver. J. S. Redford, local manager for the company, states that he never keeps any money in the office.

Spot, the Canon City bloodhound, who on several occasions has been brought to this district to track down criminals, is nearly "all in." While tracking the crackmen who dynamited the safe of the Cross-Hill Lumber company at Independence, old Spot was twice attacked with heart failure and fell to the ground, this led people to believe that the burglars had left poison upon their trail. Spot is 13 years old, and has been overworked for some time past. However, yesterday he followed a scent taken from some papers handled by the burglars, and led the officers to the cash box of the safe, a couple of hundred yards from the lumber office. He tracked the criminals to Cameron, but there lost the scent.

In the divorce suit of Dr. R. H. Bird versus Edith Bird, on trial today in the district court, the defendant was granted the divorce upon her cross-bill, charging cruelty. The couple were married in Chicago in 1897 and have lived in Cripple Creek for several years past. Mrs. Bird claims a portion of the property, and the property rights are to be determined later.

The alternative writ of mandamus secured by William E. Johnson in the Anaconda board of trustees controversy, was today in the district court made peremptory. The name of Olof Anderson, the new town clerk of Anaconda, was substituted for that of Miss Vesta Bolton, and he was ordered to at once issue a certificate of election to Mr. Johnson. The respondent's appeal to the court of appeals was granted.

Justice Harrington today united in marriage Mr. Louis Bochatay of this city and Miss Mabel Woods of Brighton.

A deed was filed today with the county clerk in which George W. Rose, et al, transfers to the Stratton & Cripple Creek T. M. company the Snowshoe No. 1 lode, survey No. 15,858, for a consideration of $1.

County Judge A. S. Frost left today upon his summer vacation, to be spent in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

IN EL PASO COUNTY PIONEER PASSED AWAY

Special to the Gazette.

Monument, July 9.—Mrs. Henrietta E. Ford, aged 80 years and 6 months, died at her residence here at 7 a. m. July 9, after an illness of only a couple of days.

At her deathbed were her son, C. S. Ford, and his wife of Denver.

Mrs. Ford came here more than 30 years ago with her husband and built the Monument hotel, one of the first buildings of the town.

Since that time Mrs. Ford has buried her husband and four children.

Always a true Christian, she was one of the first ones to help organize a Presbyterian church here, and has always given it her support. For many years she has borne the title of "the Church Mother," in this, as in many other things, her influence will be sadly missed.

A host of friends here, as well as in Denver and Colorado Springs, are left to mourn this sad loss.

NEWS NOTES FROM VICTOR

Residence of W. C. Wescott Damaged by Dynamite Explosion.

Victor Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette

Victor, July 9.—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Wescott on Bull hill, between Independence and Goldfield, was partially demolished at 7:55 o'clock this morning by an explosion. Fortunately no one was injured. Sheriff Robertson, after viewing the damage done to the big 10-room house, stated this evening that the cause of the explosion was unknown to him. Insurance adjusters are of the opinion that it was caused by the explosion of gas in the chimney, while others who are familiar with Mr. Wescott, state that he had several enemies in the camp, and that there is no doubt in their minds but that dynamite was placed in the chimney and was exploded by the fire started in the stove this morning. It is known that Mr. Wescott has received several letters notifying him to leave the camp at once. A few weeks ago he took a shot at a man who was attempting to force an entrance to his office. Mr. Wescott is chief clerk and bookkeeper for the Keith-Grube transfer company, and a few weeks ago was instrumental in the prosecution of alleged ore thieves. Although the officers are silent, it is nevertheless a fact that bloodhounds from Cripple Creek arrived on the 10:40 F. & C. C. train this morning and were at once put to work, but failed to pick up any trail.

The general supposition is that a quantity of dynamite with caps and fuse attached was lowered down the chimney of the one-story dwelling. This chimney leads from Mr. Wescott's bed room. This morning it was quite cold, and a fire was started in the heating stove in this room. Coal was placed upon the fire about 7:30 o'clock, and the blaze was burning hotly at 7:55 a. m. when the explosion came. It was terrific, and the front of the house was blown out, the chimney demolished and holes blown in the sides of the building. The furniture in this bed room was practically destroyed, and a $900 piano was wrecked. Mr. Wescott was not at home when the explosion occurred, otherwise he would probably have been seriously injured, if not killed, as the dynamite was in the chimney at the base of which stood Mr. Wescott's bed. The bed is of brass and the bars were badly bent. Furniture in the parlor was also badly wrecked. Miss Abbey Grant, who is Mrs. Wescott's guest, was in the bath room at the time of the explosion, and was thrown to the floor, but escaped with a few bruises. Mrs. Wescott, who was in the kitchen with the servant, Annie Ferrin, escaped injury, but was prostrated by the shock and is now under the care of Dr. Van Norman. The dining room, containing much cut glass ware and china and a beautiful set of furniture, was also wrecked. Partitions were torn out and the damage to this room alone will reach several hundred dollars. It is not thought that this damage could have been done by the explosion of gas from the stove.

C. W. Flynn, a miner employed at the Wild Horse property, was seriously injured in a rock slide at the mine at 4 o'clock this morning. He with his partner were working upon some scaffolding, when a slide knocked the scaffolding from under them, and they with the rock and timber were dropped a distance of 25 feet. Flynn's shoulder is dislocated, his back sprained and he is badly bruised. His partner was uninjured. Flynn is resting easily at the LaVeta hotel in this city.

On Sunday afternoon at Union park in Cripple Creek there will be a big ball game between the Florence Eagles and the Victor Eagles. Both teams are strong and a good game is looked for. The local team will go to Cripple Creek with a large crowd of rooters and a band.

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star held a meeting in Masonic temple this afternoon in honor of a visit from the grand worthy matron, Mrs. L. V. Stone, of Trinidad. Tomorrow night a reception will be tendered to Mrs. Stone at Cripple Creek and will be attended by the members of the Eastern Star of this city. The distinguished visitor is the wife of Daniel Stone, editor of the Trinidad Chronicle.

C. M. Ketchum of the C., R. & Q., from Leon, Ia., headed a party of ladies and gentlemen from Manitou in a tour of the Cripple Creek district today. The members of the party were the guests of the Wonder Investment company, and after viewing the points of interest in this vicinity, had luncheon at the Gold Coin club. The Armour cadets arrived in Victor shortly before noon, over the Short Line electric from Cripple Creek, and marched to the Gold Coin club rooms, where they were entertained for a time. The cadets viewed the points of interest about Victor and then returned to Cripple Creek, taking the afternoon Short Line train for Colorado Springs.

The trustees of Victor lodge No. 367, B. P. O. E. today purchased a 40x70-foot plot of ground in Sunnyside cemetery. Eight of the brothers have been buried in the cemetery and the remains will be disinterred and placed in the Elks' lot.

HOUSEWORK

Housework is hard work under the most favorable conditions. It demands hours of sweeping and dusting, of stooping and rising, of lifting and pushing as the furniture is moved about. Yet housework is healthy work so long as it brings only the natural tiredness due to active exercise. Many a woman can look back to the days when she bustled energetically about her household duties happy in the somework. Then there came a time when she worked more slowly and when her task was done sank down utterly exhausted. Later there came a time when slight effort caused excessive fatigue. She had to work slowly and rest often, and to the weariness she felt was added pain. When she stooped it felt as if her back would break. Her head throbbed violently. She suffered from bearing-down pains. Then came a time when to do the housework was impossible, and she must go to bed, or just manage to keep up enough to overlook the work of others. That is a common experience among women. It is told over and over in the letters which grateful women write after being restored to health by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"With pleasure I write to-day in praise of Dr. Pierce and his medicines," says Mrs. Mary Conway, of Appleton, Lawrence Co., Tenn. "Was troubled with female disease; the back of my head hurt me so I could not lie in bed, and would have to sit up and then I would have such pains from my waist down I could scarcely rise up. My feet and hands would feel almost like ice. Since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I can sleep well all night, could hardly drag around before I took your medicine, and now can do my housework and help my husband in the field. Had throat trouble and my throat would swell so I could not get my mouth open to eat. Since taking your medicine the trouble has not returned. Words cannot express the thanks that I owe to Dr. Pierce."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health, by curing the local womanly diseases which are generally responsible for the failure of the general health. A woman's entire being is centered in her womanly nature. When the delicate womanly organism is attacked by disease; when there is irregularity or a disagreeable drain; when inflammation burns and ulcers gnaw, the general health will reflect the progress of disease, in increasing weakness, nervousness, backache, headache, loss of appetite and sleeplessness.

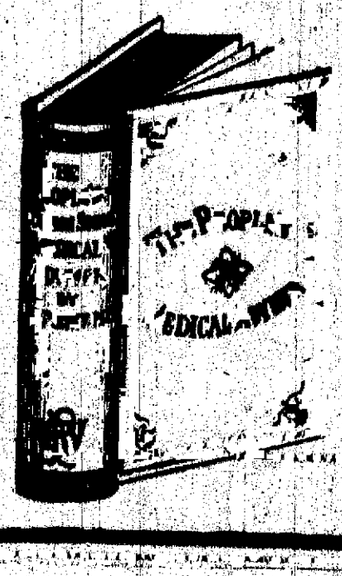
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all these ailments, and cures them perfectly and permanently. It wipes out the record of suffering as a child wipes a sum from a slate. It makes the woman feel like a new woman, and look like one, because it rounds out the form and restores the healthy color to the face.

"With a heart full of gratitude to you for sending out over the land your wonderful medicine I send these few lines, hoping that some other poor suffering women will try Dr. Pierce's medicines," writes Mrs. Cora L. Root, of Greensprings Furnace, Washington Co., Maryland. "I had suffered severely from female weakness and had to be in bed a great deal of the time. Had headache, backache, and pain in left side when lying down. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and had not taken two bottles when I was able to be around again and do my work. Can now eat anything and it never hurts me any more. Have taken seven bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and one of his 'Compound Extract of Smartweed' and several vials of 'Pleasant Pellets.' Feeling better every day. I thank you for your kindly advice. My husband is pleased with the effect of your medicine, and says I look better every day."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It changes irregularity to regularity. It dries the drains which are so weakening to women. It heals the inflamed and ulcerated organs, and cures female weakness.

Dr. Pierce invites sick and ailing women, especially those suffering from disease of long standing, to consult him, by letter, free. All letters are promptly read and answered in the strictest confidence. This offer of free consultation by letter places at the disposal of suffering women the advice of Dr. Pierce, a specialist in the treatment and cure of womanly diseases, who, assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, has, in a little more than thirty years, treated and cured hundreds of thousands of weak and sick women. Write freely and fearlessly to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Sometimes a dealer, tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious preparations, will offer a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" as "just as good." Judged by its record of cures of womanly ills, there is no other medicine just as good as "Favorite Prescription."



THIS BOOK IS FREE! On receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing ONLY, a copy of Dr. Pierce's "Common Sense Medical Adviser" in paper covers. Address, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. For the cloth binding, send 21 one-cent stamps in addition to the above. If you decide to send for the book, remit 21 stamps and address as above.

GOLDFIELD

Special to the Gazette.

Goldfield, July 9.—M. T. Fritz, a single man, 35 years of age, who resides at Independence, lies tonight at the Sisters hospital in Cripple Creek unconscious and in a dangerous condition, suffering from concussion of the brain. Mr. Fritz, with Charles Ware and Jack Potts, was employed this morning dismantling the mill of the Detroit Reduction company, just above this city and near the town of Independence. A large crane was being used in moving a piece of machinery when a cog slipped and the heavy piece of steel struck Fritz on the head. The skull is not fractured, but Dr. Leavenworth, who was summoned, ordered the man removed to the Sisters hospital at Cripple Creek. The doctor attended the injuries at the mill. Tonight it is stated that Fritz has a good chance for recovery.

The Management of Weatherford's Store

A story went the rounds some time ago of a brilliant society woman who was giving a dinner in Washington, when, just as the meal was about to be served, her cook and waitress struck for higher wages and refused to proceed with the performance of their duties unless the increase were granted. The woman was independent enough to discharge them at once and to serve the dinner herself.

Manager C. E. Tyler of the Elk hotel did not act in the capacity of waiter at the hotel luncheon yesterday noon, but the situation in which he was placed was similar to that of the society woman above-mentioned. Upon the discharge of the head waitress, six of the waitresses were convinced that it was their duty to walk out and they did so about 11:35 o'clock. Opportunity was given them to return at once, but they refused to do so, whereupon Mr. Tyler did some active work for the next few minutes with the result that the doors were opened at the usual hour and the guests of the hotel had no intimation of the crisis which had so suddenly developed.

It is said that the waitresses who struck so inopportunely will have difficulty in procuring positions anywhere in this state.

Neiswinter to Build Lowell School Addition

John Neiswinter of Colorado City has secured the contract for the erection of the addition to the Lowell school and as soon as the contract is drawn up and the papers signed he will proceed with the work.

The school board met yesterday morning in Judge Morris' office and took up the bids for the construction of the eight-room addition to the Lowell school which were opened a short time ago. Contractor Neiswinter of Colorado City had the lowest bid, $29,482, and the contract was awarded to him with provisions made for the protection of Colorado Springs laborers and home merchants, Mr. Neiswinter agreeing to furnish all labor and material from Colorado Springs. The contract will also provide that the work must be completed by December 10, with a forfeiture of probably $50 per day if the building is not ready by that time. This is exclusive of the plumbing and heating and the equipment, the latter costing about $2,000. There will be eight rooms in the new addition, which will be two stories in height and will practically double the present capacity of the structure.

Another important action taken by the board was the election of Miss Loella Tupper as teacher of drawing in the High school to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Miss Gregory, who became Mrs. Van Brugge. Miss Tupper is a graduate of the art department of Pratt institute, Brooklyn, and was for one year in charge of the drawing department of the Winona State Normal school of Minnesota, in which school she introduced manual training. From the Winona institution she went to Stevens Point, Wis., where she was at the head of the art department of that normal school last year. Miss Tupper's parents are residents of Denver. It is the opinion of the school board and of Superintendent Dietrich and all concerned that Miss Tupper is one of the strongest candidates ever presented for consideration as a member of the teaching force of this school district.

Prominent Officials to Colorado Resorts

Assistant General Passenger and Ticket Agent T. E. Swann of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad was a visitor in Colorado Springs yesterday. Mr. Swann is one of the best known and best informed railway men in the west and he pronounces the present season the best in the history of railroads in the west from the standpoint of the railroads themselves.

Yesterday morning's No. 5 out of Denver carried 571 passengers and the business for the entire summer has been unprecedented. This train goes west each day with from 11 to 13 coaches and is only one of the indications of the magnificent business that is being done by the Rio Grande road this year.

In conversation with a representative of the Gazette, Mr. Swann said yesterday that the travel is good both east and west on the Rio Grande because there are unparalleled attractions for those who wish to travel somewhere in the summer. There never was before a year when so high a percentage of the tourists from the eastern cities made for the mountains of Colorado. The interior mountain resorts are doing a business that exceeds anything before in their history. Fishing on the Gunnison and in the White river country and at Watson Wheel Gap is better than ever before. There are great numbers of Colorado people as well as visitors from other sections of the country at all these sportsmen's dreamlands. Watson Wheel Gap, he states, is full for the season already, but the accommodations there, as a result of the expenditure by General Palmer of at least $75,000 are so far superior to anything that they ever were before that all who go there are being cared for and are insisting upon remaining there throughout the season.

Several Colorado Springs men who are spending vacation trips in the Gunnison country are sending daily consignments of fish to their homes and friends in this city.

Big Bell Will Strike the Hours for Courthouse

The county commissioners have just placed an order for a bell to strike the hours in the county court house tower. The bell will weigh 3,000 pounds and will be of a deeper tone than any in the city although its volume will not exceed that connected with the High school clock.

The bell has been ordered from the Meneely Bell company of Troy, New York, the firm which recently made the McKinley memorial chimes for Lincoln, Neb., and every effort will be made so that the bell which will strike the hours in the south end of the city will be the very best of its kind in the country.

It is to be used mainly in connection with the clock which will precipitate faces to the cardinal points from the tower, but on national holidays it will peal forth in a graver voice than that used for the ordinary chiming of the hours.

Colorado Garage and Automobile

John Brisben Walker, president of the Locomobile company of America, and incidentally editor and publisher of the Cosmopolitan magazine, has decided to open a branch agency of his vehicle company in Colorado Springs and it is expected that the plant will be opened within the next 10 days with a full supply of the machines and accessories in stock. It is understood that the quarters of the company will be in the lower floor of the Lenox apartment house, which was recently opened.

A few days ago Mr. Walker was in the city attending the banquet of the Colorado Bar association at the Antlers hotel. At the time of his visit Mr. Walker observed the fine character of the streets of Colorado Springs and of the roads in this vicinity, and it was the fact that the conditions are ideal for mobiling that induced him to consider the idea of the establishment of a branch office in this city.

RARE MUSICAL TALENT IN GUESTS AT ANTLERS

A very delightful impromptu musicale took place at the Antlers hotel last evening. Several very accomplished musicians are there at the present time and Mrs. Hosler of Findlay, O., obtained the consent of some of them to favor the guests with a few selections. Mrs. W. S. Russell of San Francisco, a most accomplished pianist, who has studied in Paris and New York, rendered several numbers of classical music in a most charming and masterful manner.

Miss Hortense Golzman, of Shreveport, La., who is studying in New York city, performed exquisitely upon the violin, and Mr. F. H. Morgan, who is also studying in New York, and who has an unusually rich and well cultivated voice, sang three choice selections.

The audience was a most appreciative one and last night was apparently only a forerunner of the musical treat in store for the Antlers' guests during the balance of the season.

IN JUSTICE COURTS

In Justice Ruby's court yesterday attachment was sustained in the case of the Whitaker Printing company vs. Robert W. Hemenway. The defendant is being sued for $69.20 alleged to be due for printing the opera house programs. The case was continued.

In Justice McClelland's court the case of Lombard vs. Sleeper was concluded and the matter was taken under advisement by the court. The case of Lombard vs. Caseldey, much of the same nature as the above, was commenced, some testimony given and then continued until July 14.

A. O. F.—Ancient Order of Foresters court of Colorado No. 8411 will meet this evening. Several initiations are to be given and other important business is to be transacted. All members are requested to attend. Visiting members cordially invited. The uniform rank will meet at 7 p. m. sharp for drill. Building Laborers' hall, 12 East Huerfano street.

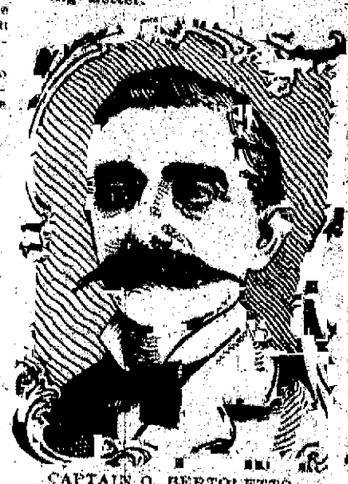
AN ITALIAN CAPTAIN

Cured by Peruna of Catarrh of the Stomach After Doctors Failed.

Hon. J. D. Botkin, Congressman from Kansas, Writes an Interesting Letter.



CAPTAIN O. BERTOLETTO.

Captain O. Bertoletto of the Italian Barque "Lincolles," in a recent letter from the chief office of the Italian Barque Lincolles, Pensacola, Fla., writes:

"I have suffered for several years with chronic catarrh of the stomach. The doctors prescribed for me without my receiving the least benefit. Through one of your pamphlets I began the use of Peruna, and two bottles have entirely cured me. I recommend Peruna to all my friends."—O. Bertoletto.

Catarrh of the stomach, as well as catarrh of any part of the body, Peruna is the remedy. As has been often said if Peruna will cure catarrh of one part, it will cure catarrh of any other part of the body.

Catarrh is catarrh wherever located, and the remedy that will cure it anywhere will cure it everywhere.

The following letter from Congressman Botkin speaks for itself:

House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, O.

My Dear Doctor—It gives me pleasure to certify to the excellent curative qualities of your medicines—Peruna and Manalin. I have been afflicted more or less for a quarter of a century with catarrh of the stomach and constipation. A residence in Washington has increased these troubles. A few bottles of your medicine have given me almost complete relief, and I am sure that a continuation of them will effect a permanent cure. Peruna is surely a wonderful remedy for catarrhal affections.—J. D. Botkin.

This is a case of catarrh of the stomach which had run for twenty-five years, according to his statement, and Peruna has at once come to his relief, promptly accomplishing for him more benefit than he had been able to find in all other remedies during a quarter of a century.

It stands to reason that a man of wealth and influence, like a Congressman of the great United States, has left no or many means untried and no stone unturned to find a cure.

If such cures as these do not verify the claim not only that dyspepsia is due to catarrh of the stomach, but also that Peruna will cure catarrh of the stomach, it is impossible to imagine how any evidence could do so.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

STATES REPUBLICANS

Republicans Held Harmonious Meeting--Union Labor Mass Meeting.

Pueblo Bureau, Colorado Springs Gazette With Colorado Securities Co.

Pueblo, July 9.—The full membership of the city central committee of the Republican party met tonight in the Central block. K. Wildeboor was chairman, and J. M. Saxon acting secretary. It was the most harmonious meeting in the history of the party locally. It was a spontaneous outpour of Republican workers, not a dissenting vote on any proposition being presented to the committee. The result was arrangements for the primary meeting, July 16. The convention of delegates elected from the different primaries, numbering 202 delegates, will meet July 17 at the Board of Trade building to make nominations for mayor of the city.

The union labor organizations in the city held a mass meeting tonight in the Board of Trade building. About 350 members were in attendance, and the purpose of the meeting was a call for volunteer pickets to be placed in front of non-union restaurants, regardless of the advice from the governor of Colorado to discontinue picketing. Chief McCafferty has also advised the unions to the same effect, and Sheriff J. L. Beaman does not hesitate to place all pickets under arrest, regardless of the downpour of criticism he is receiving from the labor element of the city. Sherman Godfrey of the Cooks and Waiters union, No. 7, in an address from the platform tonight, enthusiastically stated that it was the purpose of the Cooks and Waiters union to fill the county jail to the limit, and will even compel the county authorities to furnish greater accommodation. Twenty-seven pickets have already been arrested and are now out on bond. A resolution was adopted by the organization in appreciation of the fair report of the disturbance which has been published by the press throughout the state. One hundred volunteers were received for picket duty.

Attorney C. E. Gast addressed the real estate committee of the Business Men's association at their weekly luncheon today, and described Pueblo as like a man who needs a shave and a hair cut. There were many other apt expressions throughout the attorney's speech, he advocating the organization of precinct improvement societies and the cultivation of a lively spirit of pride among the citizens. The meeting was largely attended, and a number of the enthusiastic speakers addressed the meeting.

Mr. James A. Holmes, one of the proprietors of the Turf Exchange restaurant and saloon, was shot and dangerously wounded at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Frederick McDougal, a motorman in the employ of the Pueblo Traction and Lighting company. The wounded man is very seriously wounded, and was taken to the Sisters' hospital for medical attention. Officer O'Connor, who was standing on the southwest corner of B street and Union avenue when the first shot was fired, drew his gun as soon as he heard the shot and made towards the man with the smoking pistol in his hand. McDougal made no attempt to escape, and quietly gave his gun to the officer. McDougal made the statement that his cause for shooting was a case of even play; that he had been garnisheed by Holmes for a board bill.

Some People Say

"I want a piano and I say so long to have one, but I can't afford to buy the expensive piano I want now, and I'm not going to buy any until I can have just what I want."

Maybe a certain make and style of piano you have seen is just what you want, but its price is $?. You can't afford to pay $? just now for a pair of shoes, and will you, therefore, go barefooted? No, you don't reason in this manner about shoes, and you should not reason in this manner about pianos.

We have pianos, splendid in tone and action, beautiful in case designs at prices of $185, $225, $250 and up. We guarantee them absolutely, and you have the privilege of exchange any time in two or so years for a big or grander more expensive piano. This exchange costs you nothing extra and you have a piano in your home all the time. Easy terms of payment.
